

November 13, 2022 (101 Jewish Poems for the New Millennium event)

Editor: Nancy Naomi Carlson, winner of the 2022 Oxford-Weidenfeld Translation Prize and twice an NEA translation fellow, has published twelve titles. An Infusion of Violets (Seagull Books, 2019) was called “new & noteworthy” by The New York Times, and Piano in the Dark (Seagull Books) is forthcoming. She’s the Translations Editor at On the Seawall.

Editor: M.E. Silverman has authored books of poems including The Floating Door (Glass Lyre), and has published and co-edited Bloomsbury’s Anthology of Contemporary Jewish American Poetry, New Voices: Contemporary Writers Confronting the Holocaust, and 101 Jewish Poems for the Third Millennium.

Jeffrey Levine is the author of three books of poetry, with a fourth due out in 2023 from Salmon Press. Levine’s many poetry prizes include the Larry Levis Prize from the Missouri Review, the Ekphrasis Poetry Prize (twice), and the American Literary Review poetry prize. He is Artistic Director of Tupelo Press.

Alan Michael Parker is a cartoonist, novelist, and poet; he has written nine collections of poems and four novels. Awards for his writing include three Pushcart Prizes, two selections in Best American Poetry, the North Carolina Book Award, and the Medwick Award from the Poetry Society of America. Houchens Professor of English at Davidson College, he contributes a cartoon each Friday to Identity Theory.

Amy Small-McKinney’s most recent chapbook, One Day I Am A Field, was written during Covid and her husband’s illness and dying (Glass Lyre Press, 2022). Her second full-length book of poems, Walking Towards Cranes, won the Kithara Book Prize (Glass Lyre Press, 2016). She was the 2011 Montgomery County, PA Poet Laureate.

Katherine Smith’s first book, Argument by Design (Washington Writers’ Publishing House), appeared in 2003. Her second book of poems, Woman Alone on the Mountain (Iris Press), appeared in 2014. Her third book is Secret City (Madville Press, 2022). She works at Montgomery College in Maryland.

All readings and events support Yetzirah’s programs, including our annual summer conference, and are a vital part of our fundraising efforts. Donations to Yetzirah are encouraged and greatly appreciated.

Yetzirah is recognized as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization under the Internal Revenue code. Gifts made to Yetzirah are tax-deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

