

September 11, 2022 (Self-Reflection):
Dan Alter, Rosebud Ben-Oni, Joy Ladin, Sean Singer

Dan Alter's poems and reviews have been published in journals including Field, Fourteen Hills, Pank, and Zyzyva; his first collection My Little Book of Exiles came out March 1 from Eyewear Press. He has been a fellow of the Arad Arts Project, and is a member of the Community of Writers at Olympic Valley. He lives with his wife and daughter in Berkeley and makes his living as an IBEW electrician.

Rosebud Ben-Oni is the author of several collections of poetry, including If This Is the Age We End Discovery (March 2021), which won the Alice James Award and was a Finalist for the National Jewish Book Award. Her work appears in POETRY, APR, Academy of American Poets, Tin House, Guernica, among others, and has been commissioned by the National September 11 Memorial, and by Paramount Network for a campaign for Jewish Heritage Month.

Joy Ladin has published ten books of poetry, including National Jewish Book Award winner The Book of Anna, Lambda Literary Award finalists Transmigration and Impersonation, and newly published Shekhinah Speaks (Selva Oscura). She is also the author of a memoir, National Jewish Book Award finalist Through the Door of Life; and Lambda Literary and Triangle Award finalist The Soul of the Stranger.

Sean Singer is the author of Discography (Yale University Press, 2002), winner of the Yale Series of Younger Poets Prize, selected by W.S. Merwin, and the Norma Farber First Book Award from the Poetry Society of America; Honey & Smoke (Eyewear Publishing, 2015); and Today in the Taxi (Tupelo Press, 2022). He runs a manuscript consultation service at www.seansingerpoetry.com.
